Great Britain States Final Terms: Not Acceptable to U S

RESTS WITH COOLIDGE

Admiral Sarto Says "All Will Be Over by Monday"

BU LLE TIN

London July 26.—A special cabinet council was called tonight to discuss the Geneva conference.

A new situation at Geneva was given as the reason for the conference which was called by Sir Austen Chamberlain acting premier.

Members of the cabinet enroute for week end holidays were recalled some of them leaving trains and others being stopped while morning in the country.

General July 25.—"It is a diplomatic miracle seems capable of saving the tripartite naval disarmament conference from failure today."

Great Britain has voted her final terms and they have not met with the approval of the United States and it is freely predicted in official and unofficial quarters that next Monday's plenary session will be final without any tangible results having been achieved unless a statement of naval policy can be considered a tangible result.

The final reply of the American delegation to the British proposals came with President Coolidge but it is confidently expected to be in the negative.

Hugh Gibson, chief American delegate is understood to have told other conference yesterday that it was useless to submit the British proposal to the president but that he would do so as a matter of courtesy despite the fact that his present instructions covered all points raised by the British proposals.

Japan Are Quiet

American observers claim the British proposal indicates a desire to limit vessels which are useful to the United States without limiting vessels which are useful to Great Britain.

Knowing that the proposals are unacceptable to the United States the Japanese have not bothered to voice their objections. Although they hold the proposals to be in opposition to the tentative Anglo-Japanese agreement reached a fortnight ago.

There is some possibility that the Japanese may undertake mediation but chances of success in mediation are slight.

The British proposals offered little new and much that was objectionable to the American delegates. In the main the proposals suggested that Great Britain was willing to limit her total tonnage for cruisers, destroyers and submarines at 550,000 tons without limiting the tonnage by categories. Further, more the proposals suggested that a certain proportion of the ships reaching the age limit should be retained in service.

All Over Monday

The American delegates hold this limitation except by categories would be in violation of treaty. Britain might develop the bulk of her tonnage to cruisers and thus establish supremacy. Furthermore the proposal for retention of ships reaching the age limit is not acceptable to the United States for the reason that American vessels nearing the age limit are obsolete while most of the British vessels of this type are still effective. The British further suggest the limitation of eight to nine to 12 years cruising.

The present differences are between the United States and Great Britain but it is generally admitted that the proposals are so unsatisfactory to the

Vice President Dawes Has Narrow Escape When Engine Plunges Through Trestle

Memphis, Tenn., July 29.—Vice President Charles C. McNair and his party of officials had a narrow escape from serious injury or possible death today when the engine of the vice presidential special plunged through a trestle near Hound Head. One man was killed and two seriously injured. The train was returning to Memphis from Greenville where Vice President McNair last night addressed the state American Legion convention.	Vice President McNair and Charles H. McMath, chairman of the board of the Illinois Central Railroad, were sleeping in a special car on the train and were not awoken until after the crash. Major James of Memphis and other city officials, were badly shaken up. Sam J. Jones, engineer Memphis, was killed, and Henry Ketch of Greenville and J. E. Horton, trainman Memphis, were seriously injured.	A man or catastrophe was prevented because the train was proceeding under slow orders. The timber of a trestle gave way and the engine plunged into a deep ditch 40 feet of water. Had the train been moving fast the entire train would have fallen into the engine in its plunge. Thus far, there was thoroughly no indication to the extent to which the accident occurred at about 10 o'clock this morning.

Largest Payment Made on Mrs. Sarah King Estate, Records at County Auditor's Office Show: Assessments Levied on 28 Estates

Inheritance tax on 25 estates amounting to $16,610.20 were paid to the county during the first six months of this year, according to figures obtained at the office of the county auditor to day.

Only two of the tax payments on estates in the heritage division were for more than $1,000. The estate of Sarah King, widow of J. W. King, president of the Warren-Bretnor Hotel Co., was listed for $11,610.00 and the Frank B. Keeler estate brought $2,330.16 to taxes the report reveals.

Fifty per cent of the inheritance tax collection of the county will be paid to the taxing division, while the balance is located according to Auditor Thomas. One-half of the amount for the district is put into the general fund and the other half to the estate fund. The other 50 per cent of the tax is paid to the state.

Abolished Missouri

In taxing the estate of J. W. King, there is an exemption of $5,000 to a widow or minor child while an estate valued over that amount and up to $25,000 inclusive is assessed a tax of one per cent. There is a $5,000 addition to a father, mother, husband or son or daughter with a similar assessment of one per cent.

To brother, sister, niece, nephew, wife or widow of a son, husband of a daughter, there is a 500 per cent exemption while the tax on estates over that amount up to and including $25,000 is five per cent. All other persons or institutions can not claim an exemption and pay the regular rate of 5 per cent.

CITE STOCK PURCHASE

No Closer Personal

New York July 29.—Bankers and industrial leaders close to the management of the United States Steel corporation today placed little credence in reports that the recent buying of 144,000 shares of steel stock by the DuPont family of expenditures is closer personal affiliation between the two groups than was previously supposed. They also came with a member of the DuPont family succeeding Judge Elbert H. Gary as chairman of the steel corporation board.

Those in a position to know the facts stated positively today that the purchase of the United States Steel stock by the steel corporation itself at an average price of $122.54 a share was solely for investment purposes, and with no thought of seeking representation either in the management of the steel corporation or on its board of directors.

Will Retain Gary

There is no present indication that anyone will succeed Judge Gary as chairman of the steel corporation if he is selected in the steel corporation directors' meeting. Judge Gary, the present head of the steel corporation, already has passed his eightieth birthday and is not as active as he was when the big Chicago, July 20.—The 25 of time in the sinking of the excursion boat Favorite, off of Lake Michigan last Tuesday, were described by the coroner with no change of expression this time. It was indicated by the coroner, Charles W. Wolf.

Every one of the life belts on the boat had been government inspectors a stamp of approval dating back more than 11 years. Wolf declared. The report indicated the cable ladders were rotten and fell apart. The ladders of the Favorite was in a state of supporting a human being.

Investigators learned last that the craft carried normally had a capacity of 10 persons and a crew of three, but a special excursion permit issued during the summer months authorized it to carry 124 passengers and a crew of ten.

AID OF DADDY

Chicago, July 20.—With her father to overcome by the tragedy to defend himself, little Katherine Olson, 10-year-old daughter of Arthur Olson, captain of the ill-fated excursion boat Favorite, today came to the swimming shipper's aid.

"Daddy did the best he could," said the little girl herself one of the survivors.

"I was standing on the deck when the storm blew up. It broke up and saw daddy at the wheel. He stood there spinning the wheel and shouting orders to his men. He tried his best to keep the boat steady but when the second ran to our side they turned it over."

Katherine said she saved herself by swimming around until she saw a life line.

A check of their records and reports in the federal building upon the Favorite as compared with actual conditions discovered with the salvaging of the boat was begun by Capt. J. A. Hanson, inspector of boats.

The storm struck suddenly. Negro musicians were playing and singing—"I'm Looking for a Four Leaf Clover"—children were dancing on the docks. Suddenly it began to rain, the rain blowing in on the port side. This caused

A report that many of the life preservers on the ship were incapable of sustaining a boy was under investigation when Gherard told the coxswain that the preservers were firmly fastened to the board side of the boat. Then, when the blow caught the little craft, with the weight on the wrong side, it rolled over and went down.

According to survivors there were only one life boat on the vessel. The

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

Most delightful of books is "The Very Best People" by Frances Jennings. It is a story of the life of two children, a boy and a girl, who are brought up in a very different way from the average child. The boy is a very active and energetic child, and the girl is a very quiet and thoughtful child. They are both very different from the average child, and their lives are very different from the average child's life. The book is a very good one, and it is very interesting to read.
